1st LHS Science Fair

RE-EVALUATION DAY

Re-evaluation Day at L. H. S. was held on March 4, 1958. We were host to five visitors as follows: Dr. J. D. Park from Georgia Teachers College at Collegeboro; Mr. Durrance, Superintendent of the Evans County School System, Mrs. Lee from Metter; and Mrs. Augley from Truett County.

The purpose of their visit was to evaluate the school by the appearance of the grounds, building structure both outside and inside, and by visiting in the classrooms, talking with students and faculty members.

The visiting committee met with a committee of students, one chosen from each homeroom.

A report has been received from this committee orally and in writing. These reports contained commendations and condemnations.

At the present time, committees are at work on ironing out any adjustments that this committee thought should be made.

SENIORS RUN RADIO STATION

On Saturday, March first, from two P. M. until five P. M. six seniors became radio announcers on W.V.O.P.s Saturday afternoon record program. These six were: Frederick Alexander, Kay Dickerson, Charles Parker, Peggy Vaughn, Ava Bullock, and Judy Anne Dolamore.

This opportunity was given to the Seniors by the manager and announcers of W.V.O.P. and all the money taken in for advertising on that program went in the Senior class treasury for the class trip. The afternoon was reportedly a great success.

The Seniors wish to thank every one who helped them on this project, especially the merchants of Lyons and Vidalia who bought advertising, and the personal of W.V.O.P. for being so helpful.

The students and faculties of Lyons High and Elementary schools have been working hard for the last few weeks, making preparation for a special event, which is the first of its kind in Lyons. In keeping with the modern age—an age of stupendous progress in Science and industry—they are presenting a Science Fair, which will demonstrate the scientific talents and knowledge of today's high school students, and serve to stimulate interests along these lines.

The Fair will be held in the Lyons City Auditorium on Tuesday and Wednesday, March 18th and 19th. It will feature projects of students who are enrolled in at least one Science course. These projects will be classified as either Physical, Chemical, Biological, or General Science.

The Fair opens Tuesday night at 8:00 and will be visited at that time by members of both the Elementary and High School P. T. A., but is also open to the public. On Wednesday the projects will be on display from 8:30 A. M. to 1:00 P. M.

First and second prize medals will be awarded to the outstanding projects in each division.

HAVE YOU NOTICED THE BULLETIN BOARD?

The Student Council has taken over the job of decorating the bulletin board outside the office. A special committee is thinking up various ideas which they think will appeal to you.

If anyone has any ideas for decorating the bulletin board attractively, please tell Barbara Moore, Betty Jean Collins, or Sandra Clark. Your assistance will be appreciated.

ST. PATRICK'S DAY

I feel that spring is on its way and with it brings St. Patrick's day

A day of cheer will soon be here
And every day brings it near.
Birds are singing of the news
Shamrocks on new fallen dew
They're all making way for
This one special day.

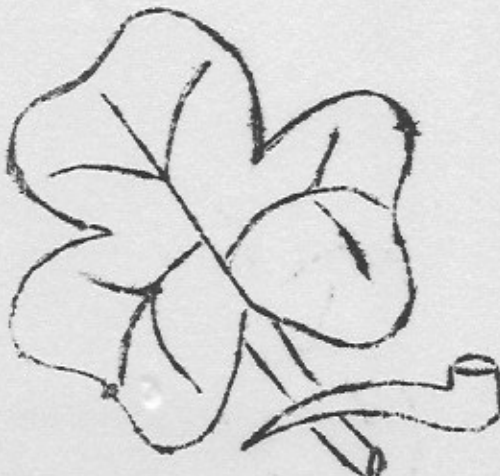

Mary Turner
— 8th Grade

This poem was found on Miss Bailey's bulletin board by one of our roving reporters and we are happy to publish it. Good work, Mary.

We will appreciate any other poetry written by L. H. S. students and will proudly publish it.

Do you know who St. Patrick was and why we celebrate a certain day each year in honor of him? He was a patron saint of Ireland, who had very strong will power. He is known for ridding Ireland of snakes. His name is throughout Ireland and there is usually a local story about him. At the time of St. Patrick's death, his glory was so great that there was no night for 12 days.

EASTER

Easter is a Christian festival commemorative of the Resurrection of Christ. It is celebrated by almost all faiths and denominations, and had its inception in the feast of the Passover, because Christ was testified by the paschal lamb to slain at that time. After Christ's death it became very easy for the Christians to see the connection between the two events.

The name Easter, strangely enough, came from the name of a Teutonic goddess, Ostera, for whom a solemn feast was observed at about the same time of the year. For the feast the early Roman Catholic missionaries substituted the paschal feast.

The word Easter occurs in only one place in the Bible—Acts 12:4. The Word "Passover" is used in all other places.

We look forward to Easter morning, when we can arise and don all our new Spring clothes. But in the celebration with families and friends, let's not forget the real meaning of the day.

Let us keep the feast, not with old leaven, neither with the leaven of malice and wickedness; but with the unleavened bread of sincerity and truth. (1 Corinthians. 5:7-8)

KEYHOLE KAPERS

Looks like Linda B. (has hit the jackpot---jacket and ring--could it be Travis Mc. from Vidalia????

It seems as if Barbara S. is still flashing a Reidsville ring around!! How about it Barbara????

It looks as if Jerry S. and Jimmy C. are finding interesting things in Vidalia. How about it boys????

It seems as if Robbie K. and Kermit NeeS. are finding out the meaning of "Love." Are we right????

What happened to Mt. Vernon, Peggy J.???? Could Maxon H. be moving in????

It seems as though Audrey W. and Carolyn S. found something interesting in Vidalia. How about it????

Geraldine C. and Gene T. were seen shopping for groceries the other day. Could this be a permanent proposition? How about it????

Does Ronnie S. still carry a torch for Kermit C.??? Tell us more Ronnie.

STATESBORO MUSIC FESTIVAL

The District I Music Festival was held in Statesboro at the Ga. Teachers' College on Friday, March 7. It was attended by about 25 bands from all over the district. The Lyons High School Band received a "fair" rating on the prepared numbers, and an "excellent" on the sight reading.

Johnnie Rountree and William Findley were soloists for the prepared numbers and received good comments from the judges.

This Festival was also attended by Florence Randall, who was awarded a Superior rating in voice.

NOTES FROM NOSEY

All of the people who have any gossip for these grades, please write it up and hand it to Athena Findley if you would like it put in the Lyons Roar.

Seems like Zandra A. has changed the ring on that finger. Could it be George Y. 's now?????

Joyce K. seems to be real interested in Millen lately, especially after receiving those love letters. How about it Joyce?????

Myra Y. and Richard T. seem to be getting along just fine. Keep up the good work Myra!!!

Olivia and the Vidalia boy just faded away. Barry is just not resistable----is he Olivia?????

Maybe we heard wrong, but was it really the end for Becky and Fred?

Jackie S. has her eye on that certain 11th grader. Boy is she secretive though.

SAVANNAH MUSIC FESTIVAL

On March 5th a Music Festival was held in Savannah at the Wesley Momentual Methodist Church. Six students from Lyons High School participated, each receiving an "Excellent" rating. These were: Joyce Kitchens, Jesslyn Garbutt, Zandra Alexander, Bill Trapnell, Sandra Brown, Miriam Smith. A piano quartette, consisting of Jesslyn Garbutt, Zandra Alexander, Jack Alexander, and Bill Trapnell, also received an "Excellent" rating.

ular meeting Wednesday, February 19 1958 with the President, Herbert Higgs, presiding over the meeting. Two men from the forestry unit in Athens gave a talk on forestry. The meeting was then closed.

ASSEMBLY PROGRAMS

The Tri-Hi-Y and the Hi-y are sponsoring the programs in assembly every Friday. This is again a series of Teen Talks by outstanding members of the community. The first talk was given by Reverend Edward Carruth, the Methodist Preacher; the second was by Mr. Eugene Brogdon, the County Agent; and the third was by Mr. Bill Thompson, President of the Kiwanis Club.

The past speeches have been so inspiring that every one is looking forward to the next one.

Hi-Y News

The Hi-Y Club sent three representatives, Frederick Brogdon, Ray Moody, and Phillip Phillips to the Youth Assembly March 6th in Atlanta.

Also, they are sending five representatives to the Christian Life Conference in Brunswick the last of March.

FADS 'N FASHIONS

The fashions for girls are promising the prettiest year ever with wonderful clothes that provide a choice of the slim or bouffant look.

Fabrics are a delight too, with their dainty, feminine air. Colors are as gay as a flower bed, with lilacs, pink, blues, greens, and yellows predominant.

Over blouses with drawstrings seem to be popular at L. H. S. combined with slim skirts. Especially notice the ones Mary F. and Jean P. have been wearing.

It seems as if the boys fads stay the same. Ivy League shirts and pants, V-neck sweaters, loud socks, and white bucks are still popular. Also loafers of different colors are being worn.

Fred. A. has been sporting some neat suede boots that go swell with his tan pants.

Fred B. has been wearing a yellow V-neck sweater with his black pants—that is an eye-catching combination.

Have you noticed Jack T's brown suede shoes? They look fine with his tan and brown plaid shirt.

Be sure and read the latest fads and Fashions in the next issue of The Lyons Roar.

So long for now.

PHILOSOPHIES

Good nature is the oil that makes time pass without squeaking.

When you have a fight with your conscience and get licked, you win.

Some people don't know what they want and won't rest until they get it.

He who climbs a little higher than the crowd will be a target for knockers.

Flattery is from the teeth; our sincere appreciation is from the heart.

An efficiency expert is one who gets his own price for guessing at things.

Good resolutions, like babies crying in church, should be carried out immediately.

The fact that a politician is always in hot water doesn't mean that he has a clean record.

Some people find it easier to believe a lie than to take the time to prove it isn't true.

The scheme of things in this life makes the pursuit of happiness the chase of lifetime.

Education teaches us lessons that our forefathers had to burn their fingers to find out.

More people would follow the straight and narrow path if there was an admission fee.

For centuries money has withstood sneers, knocks and abuse, and is more in demand than ever.

Some men are past masters at making excuses, but lack the cleverness to make them fit.

Orchids to the students who really worked on "clean-up day".

Onions to students who failed a subject this six weeks.

Onions to those people who are on the Lyons Roar Staff who do not do their part.

Orchids to the parents who came and took part in the re-evaluation program.

HOW IS YOUR ETIQUETTE?

School Days

School spirit not only implies how loud you yell at football games, but your attitude toward school in general. Perhaps you regard school as "just one of those things," and live only for graduation day. If so you are going to miss some real opportunities. After all, your school is a miniature world in which you have a chance to find out how you will fit into the scheme of things later on. Only through participation in class and school activities can you hope to get the benefit that school organizations can give you. Ability to speak at meetings, and a knowledge of parliamentary law gained in organization work will be of much value to you throughout life. As a school citizen do what you can in a moral and financial way to support school organizations and movements. Be interested and you'll find school isn't so bad after all.

Other students will respond to you according to the way you treat them. Be friendly with everyone, keeping your dislikes a secret. Don't spread stories about other students. Introduce yourself to new students and try to make them feel at home.

The popular student is well-mannered. He is careful and considerate of other people's feelings and still manages to be natural. He is truthful and honest without being noble about it. He is courteous, but not formally so. When someone is introduced to him, he doesn't bow stiffly, but a cheerful, smiling friendliness that makes people like him. He is willing to let others have the right of way in the rush for the lockers or lunchroom. He doesn't quarrel with his classmates on the athletic field. He is interested in all school activities, and not only those in which he participates. He is friendly toward both old and new students. He is courteous to teachers and to members of the office staff.

You And Your Teacher

Even though he may sometimes wrongly accuse you of throwing chalk, be courteous to an instructor at all times. Talking back might relieve your feelings, but it won't help the situation. There are two sides to every question and you will get the chance to state yours if you go about it with sufficient tact and courtesy.

Don't talk when a teacher is talking, or someone is reciting. Avoid laughing at others' mistakes—you may make worse ones.

Never touch or read anything on a teacher's desk without first having permission. Privacy should always be respected.

When a woman teacher drops anything, pick it up. When she's carrying many books or packages, help her. If you wish to speak to her and she is busy, wait for a better opportunity. Courtesies such as these are simply thoughtful acts you would do for anyone.

In The Corridors

You have all met the bad school citizen who goes tearing along the hall, diving into people, but never stopping to apologize. Or that other one who never seems to get anywhere without linking arms with two or three friends and ambling along. You sometimes see him stopping to chat with a friend right in the middle of the hall; or elbowing his own way through the halls, pulling someone after him; or crowding everyone off the steps; or letting doors fall back in people's faces. Be content with knowing him and don't imitate him. If you try to get to your destination on time it won't be necessary to make a last minute rush. Observe courtesies that you would on a city sidewalk or in a downtown store.

In The Lunchroom

Keep in line and follow in your turn. Don't try to save places for anyone. Always try to keep your voice down in the lunchroom. Watch your table manners. It is a reflection on your manners at home.

On The Grounds

It is much easier to let your orange peelings fall where they may, but if you don't pick them up, somebody else has to. Leaving them and lunch papers about the grounds is a direct reflection on your home training.

If you are in the throes of a romance, don't make Him or Her conspicuous by too constant attention around school. It is likely to be rather amusing to unsympathetic observers.

Assemblies And Meetings

Be there on time and take your seat quietly. Don't yell across the room to your friends. When the meeting is called to order, turn your attention to the presiding officer (or teacher) at once. If you knew how hard it is to conduct a meeting when everyone is talking you'd save your little conferences till some other time. If you can't hear, don't distract the attention of others.

If there is a speaker for the assembly, he is a guest and any discourtesy on the part of even one student reflects on the entire audience and school. Courteous attention is due him even if you find him uninteresting or hard to hear. Remember that when the speaker leaves, he carries with him an impression of the school which is determined by the conduct of the pupils.

ETIQUETTE FOR STUDENTS

Do not borrow personal articles from others unless it is absolutely necessary.

Permit girls to enter busses first.

Always offer girls your seat when there is no other.

Don't crowd on busses or rush for seats.

Be a gracious and cooperative guest when in another's home.

Never make two dates for one evening, leaving one to go to another.

Always respect the property of others.

Never criticize others.

Always make introductions of people when necessary.

Always use correct posture; bathe regularly; wear clean clothes; be well-groomed.

Don't forget small favors. Little things mean a lot.

Never open anyone else's mail. Never peek at another's diary or read others letters.

Do your share of work cheerfully and promptly. Try to remember to do things without being told.

Don't be selfish with the things that you may have.

Don't create a disturbance by shouting to someone.

Respect the opinions of others and show an interest in them.

Don't be afraid to apologize when you are in the wrong.

Be loyal to your family and never be ashamed of them.

Avoid the use of slang and constant repetition.

Be a good listener. You will always learn more by listening than by talking.

Do not monopolize any conversation.

Never argue about unimportant and trivial matters.

When entering a room where other people are talking, do not interrupt their conversation.

Talk about the weather as a last resort only.

Be respectful and considerate of old people.

Develop a sincere sympathy and liking for other people.

Try to improve your appearance over Mother Nature as much as is possible.

Try to make people feel as you would like them to make you feel.

At all times keep a sense of humor.

Acquire the habit of seeing the bright side of life rather than the gloomy side.

The only way to keep a friend is to be a friend.

Do not boast of personal possessions or achievements.

Courtesy is a boomerang that brings back to you many of the things you want most from life--friends, good times, a job, and popularity.

Good manners should become the cornerstone upon which you build upon.

Go to your seats immediately after the bell rings.

Raise your hand and wait until the teacher recognizes you.

Don't throw paper on the floor.

Sit erect in your seats.

Be careful with school property. Do Not mark in books.

School is for you. Get the best you can out of it.
